

CONFERENCE NO CURE-ALL: EISENHOWER

Senate Passes
Remapping
Measure, 48-2

Bill Returns to House for Vote
On Amendments

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The Illinois Senate today passed the legislative reapportionment bill, 48-2.

The historic measure, which would give Illinois its first new legislative districts since 1901, went back to the House for a vote on concurrence with Senate amendments.

A final showdown fight will be waged in the House over a Senate amendment affecting three northwestern Illinois Senate districts. But Rep. George S. Brydia (R-Prophetstown) has promised he will not filibuster if he loses his fight to reverse the amendment.

Before the overwhelming passage vote, senators on both sides of the aisle conceded dissatisfaction with the new Senate map, based primarily on area.

The votes against the remap bill were cast by Sens. Robert E. Cherry and Robert J. Graham, Chicago Democrats.

Both said the measure would be held unconstitutional by the courts because of a wide disparity in Chicago Senate district area and population.

Sen. James O. Monroe (D-Collinsville) condemned the bill as "monstrous . . . neither fish nor fowl" and said the governor would have to take responsibility "for an area reapportionment which has no parallel in the nation."

Brydia said he believed he had enough votes to defeat the Senate reapportionment amendment of Sen. Morris E. Muhleman (R-Rock Island) in the House.

"I can't see that filibustering accomplishes anything," Brydia said Monday. "But I think I've got the votes to win in this House."

He didn't think there were 77 votes in the House to uphold the Muhleman amendment.

When the Senate and House fail to agree on amendments that one of them has tacked on to a bill which both have passed, then each body names a conference committee. These committees then try to work out a plan agreeable to both houses and the conference committee meets until both houses approve one of these plans.

The Muhleman amendment returned three northwestern Illinois Senate districts to these forms; Lee and De Kalb counties; Whiteside, Rock Island and Mercer counties; Henderson, Warren and Knox counties.

Brydia, who wants to run for the Senate from Whiteside county, succeeded in getting the House to approve this amendment before the bill went to the Senate. Whiteside, Lee and De Kalb; Mercer, Rock Island, Henderson; Warren and Knox.

Union Gives GM
Until Midnight
Sunday for Pact

DETROIT (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers decided today to give General Motors until midnight Sunday to come up with a satisfactory contract settlement, including guaranteed wage payments, for 350,000 GM workers.

The action removed the two-edged strike threat against the company by the auto workers and the CIO Electrical Workers. The contracts of both had been due to expire at midnight tonight.

The GM contract expired June 1, but was extended. The union's General Motors Council voted today to extend the deadline again to give both sides more time to work at a settlement.

It was believed the Electrical Workers would follow the UAW lead and order its 35,000 GM workers to stay on the job.

CIO President Walter Reuther and his UAW negotiators came to terms with Ford Motor Co. on a new contract Monday. They hinted they might seek even bigger gains from GM.

At least three General Motors plants were hit by premature walkouts, idling some 12,300 workers. Holdover strikes also kept nearly 30,000 workers off the job in scattered plants across the country.

To Build Addition
To Mt. Carmel Plant

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—A steel firm here reported today it has been awarded a contract to build a 45,000 square foot addition to the Snap-On Tools Corp. plant at Mt. Carmel, Ill.

Luria Engineering Co. of Bethlehem said the steel-framed, single-story building is scheduled for completion in September.

Senate Investigates Youth Commission;
Questions Who Hands Out Group's Jobs

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Illinois' 18-month-old Youth Commission today was under the scrutiny of a Senate investigating committee interested in who hands out the jobs as well as in what is being done.

The committee Monday questioned the three youth commissioners and the heads of the state juvenile training schools and correctional institutions at Geneva, St. Charles and Sheridan.

The Youth Commission was created Jan. 1, 1954, by a 1953 act to take custody of all youthful offenders who are sentenced by courts. The commission has power to decide where a child should be sent, whether he should be released or placed on probation, and to establish juvenile correctional services from the local to the institutional level.

The Senate investigation was launched by Sen. Lottie Holman O'Neill (R-Downers Grove), who is chairman of the investigating committee.

Either Mrs. O'Neill, Sen. Fred J. Hart (R-Streator) or Sen. John P. Meyer (R-Danville), one of the Youth Commission Act's framers and its stoutest committee defender, asked each witness who sponsored him for the post.

All three commissioners and Miss Mary Shaughnessy, superintendent of Geneva Girls Training School, replied they were appointed directly by Gov. William G. Stratton.

Mrs. Ruth Conklin, former business manager at Geneva, and Ralph Divine, Kane County treasurer and former Youth Commission administrative assistant temporarily in charge at Geneva, said they were sponsored by Sen. Merritt J. Little (R-Aurora).

Both Mrs. Conklin and Divine said they were critical of Miss Shaughnessy. Both said they worked under orders of Lee Daniels, former Youth Commission chairman fired by the governor for involvement in a plot to get an attorney general's opinion on a gambling device.

Mrs. Conklin said she and Miss Shaughnessy had "differences" before Mrs. Conklin resigned in October, 1954. Mrs. Conklin said these differences stemmed from divisions within the three-member Youth Commission, with Daniels handling

Labor Experts
Predict 11-15c
Hour Wage Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Labor experts today predicted a jump of from 11 to 15 cents an hour in the general level of 1955 wage hikes, perhaps tripling last year's level.

They said they expect the Ford-CIO Auto Workers agreement to give a boost to the general level of wage hikes rather than set a guaranteed wage pattern in labor-management settlements this year.

They expect a steel industry settlement to strengthen this boost. The negotiations this year between the industry and the CIO Steel workers are confined to wages with the union scheduled to take up the guaranteed annual wage issue next year.

Last year's labor-management settlements averaged around a nickel an hour in pay increases. Unemployment was high and business in a slump. Wage hikes have crept up this year to between seven and eight cents an hour, plus a variety of improvements in so-called fringe benefits such as pensions, health and welfare funds, vacations and holidays. Strike activity also is on the upsurge.

Labor experts explain it by saying that unions feel they "missed the boat" last year and are out to cash in on the 1955 business recovery.

One government expert described the Ford-UAW guaranteed wage plan as a "vote of confidence" in the economic future of the company. But economists said the plan is not likely to have any impact on the nation's economy immediately because the company will not pay anything out to idle workers for another full year.

Boy, 7, Rescues
Infant, but Sister
Dies in Trailer Fire

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A 7-year-old boy rescued his infant brother and was severely burned in a futile attempt to save the life of their older sister in a house trailer fire in St. Louis county.

The dead girl was Hazel Ann Robinson, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Robinson of Wildhorse Creek Road in Chesterfield.

The boy, Arthur Junior, the baby, 2-month old Forest, and the mother were treated at St. Louis county hospital for burns and smoke inhalation.

Monday's fire was the second for the family in a year. They lost their home at Licking, Mo., when it burned down during their absence last year.

Justice Dep't
Presses Probes
Of GM and Ford

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department is pressing "with utmost vigor" an antitrust investigation of General Motors to determine if that mammoth corporation illegally monopolizes part of the automotive market, Asst. Atty. Gen. Stanley N. Barnes said today.

Barnes also revealed that the Ford Motor Co. has been under investigation for some two years for allegedly forcing certain exclusive contracts on its independent dealers.

Barnes, who is chief of the antitrust section, made the statements in testimony before the Senate Judiciary subcommittee.

He also warned that the department was prepared to file action "on the criminal side" against certain local automobile dealers associations charging them with illegal price-fixing and price "packing."

These three developments were the result of an overall investigation launched by the department in May, 1953, into "significant competitive changes" in the automotive industry, he said.

Study Dealers' Files
"It may be," Barnes said, "that General Motors could put all other automotive producers out of business if it wanted." But he added that before the company could be charged with illegal monopoly in this broad sense the government would have to prove it possessed the power to eliminate its competitors along with the intent to use that power.

Barnes said he could only assure the committee that the antitrust division was "alert for an indication of significant change" in the automotive industry's competitive balance.

Barnes revealed that he refused at one time to authorize a grand jury investigation of Ford. Instead, he said he sought and obtained voluntary access to the files of "many" Ford dealers throughout the country.

"We are now busy evaluating 10,000 documents copied by our investigators and may have to conduct further investigations," he said.

Barnes explained that the Ford investigation was prompted by "persistent" complaints from dealers, jobbers and manufacturers that the company required its customers to sell only auto parts and accessories made or approved by Ford.

At the Monday night board meeting, Superintendent Russell Malan read formal resignations of Mrs. Virginia Ridenour and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Darnell, Harold R. Ridenour, who teaches at HTHS, have not announced their plans, but likely will go to other schools.

Mr. Darnell has tentative plans for entering a dental school.

It is a coincidence that his twin brother, Donald Darnell, will serve his internship in the Harrisburg schools next term, as a part of his work toward his Master's degree in education from Southern Illinois university.

Teacher interners serve in any capacity needed in the school system, receiving part-time pay, while observing and taking part in instructional activities.

Proposed Gasoline

Although a site has not been announced, the proposed gasoline plant to use part of the gas from the Eldorado oil field will be located some place between the gas field and the Big Inch pipeline, it was learned today.

The Big Inch passes north of Raleigh on its way to Norris City. There was considerable evidence in Eldorado this morning that the proposed plant will go through as scheduled.

Infant Dies
In Fall from Father's Arms

Daughter of Mr.
And Mrs. Roger Young
Hits Head on Floor

A six-month-old Harrisburg baby died last night when it accidentally struck its head on the floor, Coroner Elmer M. Gibbons reported.

The infant, Shelia Kay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Young, died at Lightner hospital, where the mother had gone to visit a neighbor's child, the coroner reported.

Gibbons said that the father was caring for the baby while the mother went to the hospital for the visit. Young told the coroner that he was sitting in a chair and was holding the baby in his arms. He reached over for the baby's bottle, he said, and the baby gave a jump, or jerk, and fell backwards, the back of her head striking the floor, he stated.

The infant was rushed to the Lightner hospital where she lived about a half hour or 45 minutes. A physician told the coroner death was due to a skull fracture.

The family lived in the housing development in Dorrisville. Shelia Kay was the only child. The mother is the former Miss Nina Flannel of Carrier Mills.

The body was taken to the Turner funeral home and funeral arrangements are not completed.

Coroner Gibbons conducted an inquiry, declaring there would be no need for an inquest into the death.

Riter was joined in his attack by the Illinois Association of Manufacturers. It charged that GAW was stifling new employment and place "formidable obstacles in the paths of workers who seek employment."

Meanwhile State governors and industrial leaders studied the agreement to see what effect it would have on the nation's laws and economy.

Most of their predictions were cautious, but at least two trouble signs emerged.

A survey showed that at least 20 states would allow only partial unemployment benefit payments under GAW unless present laws are changed. Five states would ban them outright.

Lincoln School
Will Not Be
Reopened in Fall

The Lincoln school in Harrisburg will not be reopened this fall, it was determined by the District 43 school board at the regular June meeting Monday evening.

The school, which has always been operated for Negro children, was constructed about 1912.

In the fall of 1952, when some Negro children began attending other schools in the district, Lincoln school was kept in operation as a "permissive" school for those who wished to enroll there.

Declining enrollment at the school and the resultant increase in cost per pupil brought the decision to close the school as an economic measure. Pupils who have been attending Lincoln will be enrolled at other schools according to the regular school boundary lines.

It has not been determined what will be done with the building. It may be leased to prospective business or professional firms or may be sold.

At the Monday night board meeting, Superintendent Russell Malan read formal resignations of Mrs. Virginia Ridenour and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Darnell, Harold R. Ridenour, who teaches at HTHS, have not announced their plans, but likely will go to other schools.

NAM President, Illinois Ass'n of Manufacturers Attack Ford Settlement

By United Press
The historic Ford guaranteed annual wage settlement was attacked today by the president of the National Association of Manufacturers and by at least one state industrial organization.

Henry G. Riter III, president of the NAM, predicted a "wave of strikes is almost sure to follow" if other motor companies follow Ford's lead in guaranteeing pay for laid-off workers.

Riter was joined in his attack by the Illinois Association of Manufacturers. It charged that GAW was stifling new employment and place "formidable obstacles in the paths of workers who seek employment."

Meanwhile State governors and industrial leaders studied the agreement to see what effect it would have on the nation's laws and economy.

SIU Planning
Busy Week End for Commencement

Southern Illinois university is looking forward to a busy commencement weekend which will feature a cornerstone laying by the governor, the annual Alumni Day, and graduation exercises for more than 480 students.

Gov. William Stratton will lay the cornerstone for Southern's new $2,500,000 library Saturday afternoon.

Mark Van Doren, Pulitzer Prize winning poet, will address the graduates in ceremonies at McAndrew Stadium at 7 p. m. Sunday.

The graduating class is the largest in Southern's history. Another record will be established at commencement when 41 Air Force ROTC students receive their commissions.

The weekend activities will begin with Alumni Day business meetings preceding the cornerstone laying Saturday. The governor and his wife will be escorted to the new library site by 20 AFROTC cadets of the Queen's Guard.

Stratton will make a brief talk at the library, which is expected to be ready for occupancy next January. Other speakers will include John Page Wham, president of the SIU board of trustees, and several area legislators. Entertainment will be furnished by Southern's Singing Squadron.

Aubrey J. Holmes, Springfield, executive secretary of the Illinois Teachers' Retirement System, will be the speaker at the Alumni Day banquet at 6:30 p. m.

Graduates to be commissioned include the following:
Glendel C. DeNeal, Donald G. Gates and Harley L. Young of Harrisburg, and Charles D. Coleman of Shawneetown.

Sentence Youth
To Electric Chair
For Killing Rival

NEW YORK (AP)—A 16-year-old youth faced death in the electric chair today for killing a rival teenage gang member in a fight over a girl.

"This is one of the saddest days in my career," Kings County Judge Samuel Liebowitz said in handing down the death penalty Monday to Raymond Holley, a Negro.

Liebowitz had no choice in the sentence. The jury which convicted Holley of first degree murder did not recommend clemency.

"I never dreamed that I would be called upon by the law to send a 16-year-old kid to the chair," Liebowitz said.

Holley was 15 when he shot Jesse Lipscomb, also 15, last Oct. 1 with a shotgun. The boys had fought the day before over the attentions of a girl.

40, Dies After
Fall from Tree

Waymon Jochum, 40-year-old farmer living four miles northwest of Crab Orchard in Williamson county, died shortly after 11 a. m. today after he fell from a tree.

He fell at his farm home and was rushed to the Lightner hospital in Harrisburg by neighbors in an automobile, and was pronounced dead on arrival.

Coroner Elmer M. Gibbons said that the man and his eighty-year-old son, Larry Dale, were out in the yard and that Jochum climbed a pecan tree to clean our some bird nests. He fell and fractured his skull, Gibbons said.

The body was taken to the Miller funeral home at Carrier Mills.

Besides the son he leaves his wife, Eva.

House Approves
New Postal Pay
Increase Bill

By United Press
The House passed legislation today which will give 500,000 postal workers an average 8 per cent pay boost.

The Senate is expected to approve minor amendments added by the House and speed the measure to President Eisenhower. The President vetoed an 8.8 per cent postal pay increase but has indicated he will sign the new bill.

The postal increase is expected to lead to early approval of a pay hike for one million other federal white collar workers. Their increase may not be quite as large as the postal workers.

The boost for postal workers is expected to add about 160 million dollars a year to the Post Office payroll.

Other congressional news:
Atom Ships: The House Merchant Marine Committee approved a bill to authorize construction of two atom-powered ships—one more than President Eisenhower asked.

One would be the atom-for-peace demonstration ship—an existing hull type fitted with a nuclear engine of existing design—which the President requested. The other would be a truly developmental ship designed from the keel up as a prototype of atomic merchant craft of the future.

Minimum Wage: The Senate Labor Committee approved a bill to increase the federal minimum wage, now 75 cents an hour, to one dollar.

Air Power: Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) said Russian air power will pass this country's "in a relatively short time" unless the U. S. program is changed and speeded up.

Anti-trust: Asst. Atty. Gen. Stanley M. Barnes said the Justice Department is pushing an investigation to determine if General Motors is illegally monopolizing part of the auto market. He also told a Senate subcommittee the department has been investigating Ford for two years.

Gas: The House Interstate Commerce Committee neared a vote on a bill to exempt natural gas producers from direct federal control. As a preliminary it defeated, 19-10, a substitute bill to keep big gas producers under government price regulations.

Uniforms: An Army spokesman said the Army gave Chicago cap maker Harry Lev two contracts for more than he offered. The disclosure was made before the Senate investigating subcommittee looking into alleged corruption in armed forces garment procurement.

Need For Caution
He said that while this country had reason for confidence, there remained a need for caution and wisdom in international affairs—the "wisdom and the caution that wisdom enforces—in the halls of government, in every place of business and in every home . . ."

The President moved into the Big Four area after reminding the class of 1955 that its members would have to live in a world of tension and decision. Decision of individual mind and conscience, "naked of others' counsel," was the fate, he said, of the American military man.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower arrived here Sunday for June Week festivities with his class of 1915, and the commencement exercises today. They were scheduled to fly back to Washington during the afternoon.

Baghdad Student
Ordered to Leave Country

MARION, Ill. (AP)—A foreign student who attended Southern Illinois University and is accused of assault against his ex-wife today was ordered to leave the country.

Salem Al-Jaryan, 23, of Baghdad, Iraq, was held in Williamson County jail in lieu of $18,000 bond.

He was charged with assault to kill, burglary, aggravated assault and concealing a weapon after entering the home of his former wife at Stoneyfort.

State's Atty. Carl Sneed said immigration authorities have ordered Al-Jaryan to leave by June 30. Sneed said Al-Jaryan had not attended classes at SIU for several months and had received low grades.

His failure to attend class and his low grades were the basis for the order to leave the country.

Firm But Not Obstinate

Editorial By Bruce Blossai
Secretary of State Dulles must be weary of getting advice on how to deal with the Russians at a four-power conference. But it's just possible that when German Chancellor Adenauer comes over in mid-June he may have some wise counsel to offer.

Reports from Bonn suggest that Adenauer will advise the United States not to be too ready to make a broad European settlement with the Kremlin. In his view the West is getting stronger and the East weaker. He feels that if the West will be patient another year or two it can get far better terms from the Reds than in 1955.

There appears to be a good deal of evidence to support this approach. Russia's failure to develop adequate farm production is well known. Its decision earlier this year to renew emphasis on heavy industry at the expense of consumer goods output cannot have eased the Kremlin's domestic political problems.

As has been fairly said many times, we cannot refuse to sit down with the Soviet Union when there seems any hope at all it might open the way to an eventual lasting settlement.

But we need not fall all over ourselves simply because the Reds feel like talking. We know enough about them by now to realize they would not suggest such a course
if they did not think there was advantage in it for them.

Elements in Britain, France and elsewhere, naively pre-occupied with the top level conference as a device for securing peace, will be pressing their governments to insist that we take just about anything the Kremlin offers. They are always prepared to accept Russia's overtures on faith and to regard the United States with suspicion. These urgings must be resisted.

So much of the time the Russians are in a menacing mood that there is a tendency to welcome
their softer gestures with uncriti-cal enthusiasm. A feeling of relief sweeps over even cynical diplomats.
They're so eager to capitalize on the altered Russian mood that they don't drive the hardest bargain
they could.

The Berlin blockade negotiations were a good example. We got the blockade lifted all right, but there was later evidence we could well have won some additional concessions had we been tougher at the time.

No one dares pretend that it is easy for the West—and America particularly—to strike just the right posture in any dealings with Moscow. But somehow we must find the way to be firm without being blind and obstinate.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON SAYS: Eisenhower Highway Bill May Be Passed in House; Ike Picks
Some Unusual Judges; Nehru's
Diplomats Maneuver For Release Of U. S. Prisoners.

WASHINGTON.—Don't write off the Eisenhower highway bill as a total loss. It may well be passed in the House of Representatives,
despite its defeat in the Senate
last week.

What defeated the highway bill in the Senate was the desertion of a few GOP senators who, though Republican in name, usually are as much for Ike as Byrd of Virginia and Holland of Florida are for the Democrats.

When the highway bill goes to the House, however, ex-Speaker
Joe Martin and Charley Halleck of Indiana plan to keep all of the GOP membership in line. They also expect to pick up some Democratic votes, such as Charley Buckley of New York and Jack Dempsey of New Mexico. (Jack sells road tars to highways.)

It's a paradoxical twist of political fate, incidentally, that some of the Republicans who deserted Ike on the highway bill are among those he went out of his way to help re-elect.

Senator Jenner of Indiana, for instance, faced possible defeat at the hands of popular ex-Governor Schriener of Indiana in 1952, and Ike wasn't at all anxious to go to Indiana to help, for Jenner had branded Ike's boss, Gen. George Marshall, as the spokesman for traitors. Nevertheless, Ike went to Indianapolis anyway, posed for the newsreel cameras in chummy juxtaposition with Jenner and Jenner was elected.

Now the man Ike helped walks
out on Ike on vital issues.
BEHIND IKE'S JUDGES?
Senators serving on the Judiciary committee have been amazed and curious as to how Eisenhower picks some of his new judges.

One of the latest is John Brown,
a Houston, Tex., attorney selected to be judge on the important Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals.
Brown, it now develops, was rebuffed by the very court on which Eisenhower now wants him to sit.
As the attorney for a shipping line
involved in the 1947 Texas City ship disaster, Brown altered the bills of lading so as to make a better case for the steamship company he represented.

A French ship, the Grandcamp, blew up in Texas City harbor while loaded with highly explosive ammunition, nitrate, and a near-by ship, the Highflyer, owned by the Lykes Brothers, also caught fire and blew up. It was similarly loaded. To make it appear that the government was at fault, not the shipowners, Brown erased the warning "explosive" which the government had stamped on the ship's papers.

Questioned in court, Brown admitted that he had made the change himself. Later when the case went to the Court of Appeals, Brown and his associated attorneys filed a brief accusing the government of "slick, glittering,
surface shiny generalities,
extravagant falsifications, misstatements, and distortions . . .
sickening omissions, sneering reflections, weasling and sham."

"The U. S. government," claimed Brown and associates, "in an atmosphere of cool, cynical mockery of safety and the preservation of life and limb . . . had reserved

the right, in its discretion, to neglect and maim its citizens or destroy their property with impunity."

The Court of Appeals, incensed at this accusation, issued an order expunging the inflammatory language from the record, it also decided against Brown, ruling that the U. S. government had taken adequate precautions in loading
and packing the nitrate.

Now, the attorney who was spanked by the court has been appointed by Ike to sit on that same high court.

That's why senators are wondering just what FBI investigations
the White House orders before nicking judges. Another they're wondering about is who is behind the appointment of ex-Congressman John Wood, ex-member of the Ku Klux Klan, whose law office received a $1,000 fee for introducing a private bill, but who despite this, was appointed to the subversive control board.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE
Labor leaders who go to Miami for summer conventions will give a wide berth to twelve Miami Beach hotels now being struck by the hotel and restaurant employees and bartenders. The strike is in its 6th week, and unions will take their
"package" vacations elsewhere.

It hasn't been announced,
but Chiang Kai-Shek has quietly withdrawn his troops from nine coastal islands around Quemoy and Matsu, though still on seven islands, including Quemoy and Matsu. Looks as though he's giving up depending on Senator Knowland . . . Assistant Secretary of the Air Force David Smith has just had a unique promotion. He jumped from a reserve Navy lieutenant to a reserve air force colonel. Odd coincidence: Smith happens to be in charge of the Air Force reserve.
Wonder if that had anything to do with his promotion?

FDR'S OLD SLOOP
Secretary of the Navy Charles Thomas has completely reversed himself regarding the old sailing sloop of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

When Congressman Jimmy
Roosevelt, son of the late President, offered FDR's sloop to the Navy for the use of midshipmen
at Annapolis, Secretary Thomas had it examined and then told Roosevelt the Navy couldn't afford the $700 necessary to put the sloop in condition.

Whereupon people all over the country began writing in to the Navy sending $10, $5 and $1 bills to pay for overhauling and painting the sloop.

The deluge of money was such that the secretary of the navy found himself in the position of having to accept FDR's sloop regardless. So he shifted his position.

He is now having his office write back to the people sending him money: "There are now at the academy over 150 training craft,
and the superintendent further reported that the Roosevelt sloop must be approaching the end of its life and would be of no use to elementary sailing drills.

"These factors and the advice of the superintendent of the naval academy were the reasons that we felt we must decline the offer of the boat."

This was completely the opposite of what Secretary Thomas originally told Congressman Roosevelt.

Note—It's the policy of the present administration to ignore the name of the late President in every way possible.

Peabody Will Be One of Two Top Coal Producers

CHICAGO.—The president of Peabody Coal Co. said today the proposed acquisition of the Sinclair Group by Peabody would make it one of the nation's two largest coal producers.

Otto Gressens said the move would make Peabody about the same size from a standpoint of coal
output as Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co., now the biggest single producer.

Peabody announced Monday it seeks to acquire the eight firms through an exchange of stock, subject to approval by the stockholders and by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The eight firms, known as the Sinclair Group, operate strip mines, principally in Ohio, Missouri, western Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois.

Peabody has underground mines in Illinois and Kentucky. Both Peabody and the Sinclair Group dig soft coal.

Gressens said all the mines are near good markets or the Green, Ohio, Mississippi or Illinois rivers
so the coal can be shipped to market on barges.

"The entire thinking" behind the proposal was based on the expansion of these river valleys, both industrial and metropolitan, offering a market for the product, he said.

"All these states are excellent territory," he said.

Peabody now operates mines in Christian and Saline counties, Ill., and Harlan County, Ky.

However, a statement by Peabody said Mine No. 43 in Saline county has an "estimated remaining life of approximately two years."

"It is planned that this operation will be replaced with a new mine in the company's new reserves . . ." the company said.

These reserves are located in Washington, Randolph and St. Clair counties. The firm said no specific date has been set for mining them
but operations are planned "at an early date."

Couple Cool Off In Police Station

IRONTON, O.—(UP)—A middle-aged couple walked into the police station here at 3 a. m. with an unusual request.

"Officer, we're married and just returning home from a party," the man said. "We're in the middle of a family fuss. Would you mind if we stayed here a few minutes so we won't get into real trouble?"

Desk Officer Homer Fugett was delighted to have company. He gave the couple cigarettes and comfortable chairs. For 30 minutes not a word was said, the silence broken only by the chatter of the police radio.

"George, honey, I'm all right
now," the woman finally said.

"Let's go home."

"Sure, Baby, let's go," the man said. Glancing at the officer, he added:

"Thanks a lot. We're rolling along now. Everything is okay."

'54 Newspaper Advertising $594 Million

NEW YORK.—Newspaper advertising on a national basis chalked up its second biggest year in 1954 with outlays of $594,120,000 running 1.2 per cent below the 1953 record of $601,224,000, it was announced today.

Giant General Motors led the list
for the eighth straight year, boosting its budget 13.5 per cent to an all-time high of $37,391,415, said
the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn.

GM's expenditures topped the combined outlays of the second and third biggest advertisers—Ford and Chrysler, which also run behind GM in that order in auto production.

Most spectacular jump among the nation's 100 largest advertisers was scored by Monsanto Chemical which increased its 1953 budget 14.6 per cent to $4,101,841 and jumped from 53rd to 12th spot.

The top 100 national advertisers accounted for $208,183,461, or slightly less than half the total volume.
The 100 leading firms actually raised outlays 1.2 per cent over the 1953 figure of $284,818,435.

Automotive advertising, which accounts for the largest single chunk of national ad dollars, rose 7.9 per cent last year to $139,861,- 000. This category includes such items as gasoline and tires, as well as new cars.

The food category, running second to the automotive, dipped 2.8
per cent to reach $129,446,000.

Radio and television advertising showed a sharp drop. It fell 36.7 per cent to $17,072,000.

Sarnoff Urges FCC To Bar Pay-As-You See Television

WASHINGTON.—Brig. Gen.
David Sarnoff, chairman of the board of the National Broadcasting Co. asked the Federal Communications Commission today to bar television because it "ultimately would mean the end of our American system of free television."

Sarnoff said in a statement filed with the FCC that should pay television be successful it would force today's broadcasters also to engage in pay-TV. "This, in turn," he said,
"would set off a chain reaction which ultimately would mean the end of our American system of free television."

On Sunday, June 5, the 33rd annual reunion of the Wasson family was held at Bethesda church in Pope county.

There were 117 members of the family and a large number of friends registered. The chairman, Cecil Wasson, presided throughout the day and the program consisted of congregational singing, special numbers by various members and groups of the family.

Rev. Ernest Ammon, pastor of the First Baptist church of Carrier Mills, preached the annual sermon. He used as his text the 21st verse of the 8th chapter of Ezra and his message was a challenge to both old and young to live for God and put Him first in all things.

At the noon hour tables were set under the large trees in the church yard and a bountiful meal was spread. Rev. Virgil Smith gave thanks.

During the business session in the afternoon the following officers and committees were elected for the coming year:

Cecil Wasson, chairman; Luther Wasson, vice chairman; Downey K. Wasson, secretary-treasurer; Gertrude Wasson Hayes, assistant secretary; Charles U. Wasson, Vernon Wasson and Sepa Story, program committee; J. Roy Wasson, Eva Reed, Wayne Wasson, nominating committee; Charlie R. Reunion treasurer, Katherine Wasson, reported $75.81 in the treasury and an offering of $120.72 was received Sunday; the cemetery report by Almon Stuby showed a balance of $199.65 in the treasury for the upkeep of the cemetery next year.

Cloe Bramlet reported seven members of the family had been saved or united with the church and two young men had been called into the ministry during the past year; Ruth Gates reported 13 new babies had been born in Wasson homes; Nora Smith reported six weddings in the family and the newlyweds were all introduced;

Talks Depend On New Spirit by Russia: Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today the Big Four meetings this summer would accomplish a great deal if Russia is willing to adopt a new spirit.

He told a news conference that if the Soviet Union is sincerely ready to make progress, much could be accomplished in a fairly short time — following the brief "summit" meeting of heads of government in mid-July. He apparently had in mind subsequent conferences to follow the heads-of-state meeting.

Dulles said there is a possibility that the Soviet leaders may finally be ready to loosen their grip on Eastern European satellites. He cited Russia's recent agreement to the Austrian treaty and its recently expressed attitude toward Yugoslav independence.

Dulles made these other points: 1. The situation in the Formosa straits is less hazardous today. There is less chance of war breaking out there than there was two or three months ago. He said there actually is an informal cease-fire in existence in the Formosa area. While this is not as satisfactory as it might be, sometimes it is necessary to deal with problems on an informal basis.

2. He has no information indicating that Communist China is ready to release more American airmen. There have been recurring reports such further releases are imminent.

3. Dulles has no firm plan yet set to meet moving Indian Ambassador V. K. Krishna Menon, who recently completed a trip to Peiping. But he said he hopes to talk with Menon in Washington. And he pointed out that both will be at the San Francisco commemorative meeting of the United Nations later this month.

Gov't Reports May Employment At Record Level

WASHINGTON (AP)—Employment in May rose by 1,000,000 to a record level for that month.

The Labor and Commerce departments also reported that unemployment dropped by 473,000 persons. This was one of the largest declines ever reported for the month.

Total employment reached 62,700,000 jobs in May, and unemployment declined to 2,489,000.

Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks told a news conference that the employment picture, plus other economic factors, reaffirmed his earlier predictions that 1955 will be a record year for the economy. The government's employment survey showed that manufacturing jobs rose by 60,000 to 16,300,000 in May — the first increase for the month since 1950. The level was also 500,000 higher than in May, 1954.

This increase, plus "large seasonal expansion" in farm and construction jobs, brought total employment to a level 1,500,000 higher than in May, 1954, and some 700,000 above the previous May peak set in 1953.

Nation Pounded By Heavy Rains

By United Press
Rain and mud shrouded the nation from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico and eastward to the Appalachians today.

Heavy rains pounded the South and in Chicago a bus skidded on a rain-slicked street and tipped over, injuring 17 persons.

The heaviest rainfalls reported by the U. S. Weather Bureau included 1.48 inches at Hopkinsville, Ky., and nearly an inch at Bowling Green, Ky., and Montgomery, Ala. Earlier, hail stones three quarters of an inch in diameter battered Flippin, Ark. Quarter-inch hail stones hit Kansas City, Mo., and Joplin, Mo.

Tornado warnings were issued for parts of the Midwest during the night, but later were lifted.

In loving memory of my husband and father, Joe McDole, who departed this life 19 years ago today, June 7, 1936.
Gone, dear father, gone forever.
How we miss your smiling face.
But you left us to remember
None on earth can take your place.

A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still.
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.

The rolling stream of life rolls on,
But still the vacant chair
Recalls the love, the voice, the smile
Of one who once sat there.
Sadly missed by wife and children.

Steelworkers Hand Industry Pay Boost Demands

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The CIO Unit of Steelworkers handed the giant U. S. Steel Corp. demands for a hefty wage increase today, starting steel industry wage talks influenced but not hinged on the guaranteed annual wage issue.

Both sides expressed hope for a speedy settlement before the June 30 midnight deadline.

More than 100 negotiators and union and company executives crowded into the hotel conference room to hear USW President David J. McDonald outline the 1,200,000-member union's case for a "substantial" wage increase.

The USW actually is shooting for a record-breaking pay boost to tide its members over until 1956 when union officials are confidently predicting the guaranteed annual wage will "drop in our laps."

Current contract terms bar the GAW as a strike issue this year.

U. S. Steel, the nation's biggest producer and employer of some 150,000 production employees, was the first of the booming steel industry's top firms to receive the USW demands. The five next biggest firms will receive the union demands in separate meetings here the rest of the week.

Legislator Seeks Retaliation for Action by Sachs

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—A state representative today introduced a bill to abolish the post of Chicago city treasurer because City Treasurer Morris B. Sachs sacked his fellow legislator from a $7,000 a year city job.

Rep. Nicholas E. Caruso (D-Chicago) offered the bill in retaliation for Sachs' firing of his seatmate, Rep. Edward J. Shaw (D-Chicago) Monday.

"Since that prince of merchants (Sachs) started such a miraculous economy wave in Chicago I think we should help him effect further economies," Caruso said. "His office duplicates that of the city comptroller and should be abolished."

Caruso tried to get immediate consideration of his bill but there were objections and the bill was assigned to the Committee on Municipalities. Caruso moved to discharge the committee from considering the bill but got only 72 votes to 17 against. He needed 77.

XXXI

With the Madelia posse hesitating to close in, Cole led his followers in the only direction open to them—straight away from the west bank, out across the lake itself. Somehow, they made the crossing, wading, slipping, floundering, flailing through the deeper holes, but always keeping their precious guns arm-high above the brackish waters. Quite apparently, in the closing desperation of the chase, the Missourians had abandoned their saddles, guns, preferring in the final analysis, the classic hand-gun to the cumbersome carbine. "Todd's terrible revolver fighters" to the bitter end!

The horses of Glispin's possemen would not take the water, and hurriedly the sheriff ordered his followers south to the ford at the outlet of the pond. He shouted them excitedly on, having deduced from the direction of the outlaws their big leader's east-bank objective: a herd of pastured saddlehorses grazing in a lakeside field.

It was a race of fresh horsemen against the failing time and strength of four exhausted men on foot, three of whom were desperately wounded. Glispin won it by a narrow margin, cutting between Cole and the pastured horses, just as the latter led his staggering band out of the water and up the east-bank mudflats.

They reached the ford safely and across its narrow channel beheld a sight of princely wealth: the hunting camp of a group of St. Paul sportsmen.

And in that camp, not 100 yards from where they stood, were the hunters' four picketed saddle-mounts—under leather, full-bridled, ready to ride!

"Four horses!" croaked the big outlaw hollowly, and plunged into the Watonwan.

Behind him came Jim and Charlie Pitts, dragging the cursing, weeping Bob between them. But the gunfire up the lake had aroused the St. Paul hunters. When they saw the bearded, scarecrow apparitions rise up from the reeds across the river and plow toward them through its shallow channel, they acted in unquestioning accord. Cole had not yet reached the west bank before the camp was as innocent of hunters as it was of hunter's horse.

And Cole had not stood upon that west bank 30 seconds before his haggard glance told him that, with his crossing of the Watonwan, the Clay County Fox had brought his ragged pack to its last earth.

The ground upon which they stood formed a five-acre triangle of wild grapevine, willow, box elder and plum.

Within minutes after the bandits entered the trap, the bluffs were crawling with possemen. Across the Watonwan, other scores of man-hunters suddenly appeared. Their trap was closed.

Cole came to bay in a heavy copse of grapevine and willow near the tip of the triangle. Here at least they had some protection from the field of fire afforded their enemies by the bluff above. And they could, with their own fire, cover the wide base of the triangle up-river from them.

He helped the others make a crude couch for Bob, turned with them to crouch and peer through the vines, waiting for the rest of it.

The waiting was singularly short. Its brevity was a tribute to the nerve and determination of a county sheriff whose name is known today only in Madelia, Minn.

Glispin could have waited for starvation to do his work for him. Instead, he selected six picked rifle-men and closed in at once, on foot. The skirmish line advanced across the base of the triangle in full view of the hidden outlaws.

At 200 feet, the posse spotted a movement in the vines ahead. They hesitated and Cole's gun roared. Seven carbines crashed in reply. Pitts began firing now, and Jim. Another gun crashed, and the possemen knew the wounded Bob Younger had somehow forced himself up and into the battle. Glispin's skirmish line moved straight in, braving the scattered revolver fire, answering it with ordered rifle volleys of their own. At point-blank range, later taped off as 30 feet, they fired their last rounds.

All sound had ceased within the grape thicket.

Then a vine moved suddenly.

From beneath it writhed the body of a man. He rolled to his knees, struggled to his feet, stood facing them. He was a mass of fresh blood but the big gun still dangled from his left hand. His right hand was wrapped in a dirty sling across his chest, and the blood on that hand was old and black and fly-encrusted.

"I surrender," whispered Bob Younger. "They're all down but me."

"Drop your gun, then," ordered Glispin.

The big fingers loosened. The gun slid from them. It struck a rock in falling, bounced into the sodden leaf-mold, lay there, still and dully gleaming under the rain-drip of the thicket.

Bob followed it down, falling heavily as the posse moved forward.

Sheriff Glispin stepped over the motionless body of the young outlaw. Behind him, his possemen moved gingerly around the body, keeping their eyes on Glispin. They followed him into the thicket, fingers inside trigger guards, jaws hard-set, carbine muzzles nervously probing the silent vines. All sensed the shadow of tension and fear falling ahead of that last, interminable moment. None sensed the deeper, longer shadow standing beyond it.

An era had died with the dropping of Bob Younger's gun.

School Nurse Urges Medical, Dental Exams Now for Students

Local doctors and dentists have been supplied with medical and dental examination forms by the Harrisburg Public Schools.

Now is an ideal time for the parents of children who are entering the first and fifth grades this September to see that the required physical and dental examinations are obtained. Ethel Mathias, school nurse, advises.

Doctors are less busy, the weather is more comfortable and the rush of registration days is absent.

Make plans today for your child to have his medical and dental examination immediately at the office of your family doctor. File the completed forms carefully away until August 23 when school registration will be held in the nurse's office at Junior high. Medical and dental examination reports will be necessary at the time of registration.

First president of the United States Senate was John Langdon, of Portsmouth, New Hampshire.

GOP, Democrats Meet Tonight in Baseball Battle

WASHINGTON — There'll be all the trappings of a regular major league opening day here, but the baseball may be a little below par—even for the home base of the Washington Senators.

The occasion: The annual diamond battle between House Republicans and House Democrats. They meet tonight at Griffin Stadium under sponsorship of the Washington Evening Star which uses proceeds from the game to send local children to camp in the hot summer months. Chief Justice Earl Warren will throw out the first ball.

The Republicans won the first game in 1947, but since then they have bowed each year to the Democrats, managed now by Rep. A. S. Herlong, Jr. (Fla.).

The Republicans, co-managed by Reps. Glenn R. Davis (Wis.) and Thor C. Tollefson (Wash.), hope to break their seven-game losing streak with a tentative battery of Davis, pitching, and Rep. Sam Coon (Ore.) or Thomas B. Curtis (Mo.) catching.

The GOP team also is banking on the play of a new rookie with a real athletic record. He is Rep. Bruce Alger (Tex.), who was an outstanding football and track star at Princeton and now is health club chairman at the Dallas YMCA and is an expert handball player.

Herlong will send Rep. Torbert H. MacDonald (D-Mass) to the mound and Rep. Frank M. Clark (D-Pa.) will catch. MacDonald is a former Harvard football star and a graduate of the New York Yankees' farm system.

The Democrats have a secret weapon in Rep. T. James Tumulty (N.J.), 340-pound freshman who is listed as chief coach. Herlong's office said Tumulty may also pinch hit—he's supposed to be good at crowding the plate.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

Stengel Sees Sound Mantle Taking Place as Game's Best

MICKEY MANTLE—Sound for a change and with the benefit of spring training.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The Yankees had a bad two or three days in the summer of 1950, while Casey Stengel was leading them to the second of their five consecutive pennants.

"They say I'd be rushing that young feller," complained the imitable old manager. "If I had way, I'd bring him up right now."

Clad in sweatshirt and baseball pants, Ol' Case led us out of the Stadium dressing room and down the runway to the dugout.

"See them stands out there," he said, pointing to right field, "upstairs I mean. Hitting one up there is pretty good, ain't it? Well, I'll show you a ballplayer who'll hit the ball over them stands."

"See them left field bleachers out there," he went on, switching his motion in that direction. "Di-Maggio hits one in there now and then. Pretty good, huh? Well, I'll show you a ballplayer who'll hit the ball over them."

Pressed as to the identity of this superman, Professor Stengel muttered something about his being out in Joplin. The name was Mantle, or something like that. Stengel had seen Mickey Mantle at a pre-training season school in Phoenix that spring, you see, just hoped he would live long enough to manage him in the American League.

The Yankees returned from Arizona the next spring with the more conservative in ecstasies about the greatest prospect they had ever set eyes on—talking Hollywood describing the switch-hitting, 19-year-old Mantle's power, speed and arm. But somehow the youngster from the zinc mines where Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma meet failed to live up fully to his early promise. His prodigious feats were performed in streaks.

Saddled by one of the most wild-eyed build-ups ever given a ballplayer, and unquestionably pressing, Mantle swung too hard, struck out much too frequently.

When he struck out, Mantle hung his head... appeared and acted down.

The Oklahoma Kid has not yet learned to run the bases well, so does not completely utilize dazzling speed.

Not a few expressed the opinion that the quiet blond lacked the imagination to take his place among the big names of baseball. "If Mantle would bunt or drag the ball once in each of his 154 games, he'd bat .400," says Paul Krichell, the New York club's chief scout. "They can't shoot him out when he lays the ball down properly."

"Mantle will reach his peak when he's 25," predicted Bill Dickey.

But when The Mick swept the set with the White Sox with a 400-foot grand slam home run, Stengel allowed that the deep-corded blond might arrive two years ahead of Dickey's schedule. The Mick's three home runs in the one game against the Tigers—two from the left side of the plate and the other from the right—were still fresh in Stengel's mind. Tree-mendous!

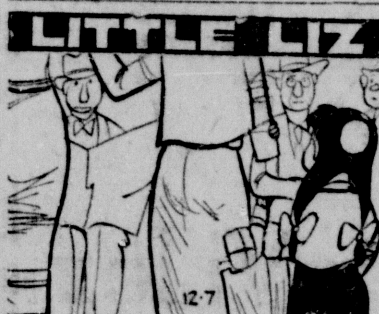

Mantle was 14 for 30 in the eight games against the west in the Bronx for an average of .467, raising his season's mark from .256 to .315. Five home runs upped his total to 11 with 26 runs-batted-in.

"Mantle is sound for a change," explains Stengel, "and had spring training for the first time since he reported in 1951."

Osteomyelitis in his left shin kept Mantle out of the Army. A collapsed right knee requiring an operation had him limping and in and out of the lineup until June, 1952. Because the knee was still sore he could do only light work in training in '53.

In November of '53, Mantle had cartilage removed from the right knee. Then he aggravated the mended knee foolishly playing basketball. A cyst developed in back of the right knee in January of '54, and he limped through training.

It's amazing that Mickey Mantle is alive, let alone potentially the greatest of ballplayers.

Chivalry on public conveyances has always been more or less of a standing joke.

Final 20 Places In U. S. Open to Be Filled Today

NEW YORK — The last 20 places in the U. S. Open golf championship were up for grabs today at San Francisco but no matter who wins out it's a cinch that defending champion Ed Furgol is in for a rough time June 16-18.

All but a few headline pros survived 36 hole qualifying tests Monday in 23 cities from New England to Honolulu with baiding Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., the 1950 PGA champion, leading the parade with a pair of 67's for 134.

Counting the 17 exempt players and 16 who qualified at Los Angeles on June 3, a total of 142 players including 123 professionals already has been qualified. The last 20 will be known late today when San Francisco completes its two rounds held on separate days because so many entered from the San Francisco area.

Hot-shots like big Mike Souchak of Durham, N. C., Johnny Palmer of Charlotte, N. C., Jackie Burke and Doug Ford of Kiamiesha Lake, N. Y., Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich., and Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., qualified with room to spare.

There were the usual disappointments and shockers in the ranks of those who failed. Most notable were Bob Toki of Livingston, N. J., who missed at Springfield, N. J.; Robert Devicenzo of Argentina, a single stroke for the third straight year; Jimmy Demaret of Kiamiesha Lake, N. Y., at Springfield, N. J.; Gardner Dickinson of St. Andrews, Ill., at Birmingham, Ala.; and George Fazio of Conshohocken, Pa., who lost a playoff to Ben Hogan for the 1950 U. S. Open title.

Two former Open champions — Ralph Guldahl and Olin Dutra — failed last week at Los Angeles and another missed Monday. Little Tony Manero, winner at Baltusrol in Springfield, N. J., 19 years ago, tried to qualify over that course and wasn't even close.

See New Home Run Marks in Both Leagues; Dodgers Beat Cardinals in Ninth, 5 to 4

By United Press

The major leagues' homer-happy sluggers are making 1955 the most prolific year for round-trippers in baseball history.

New season marks for homers will be established in both circuits and no fewer than nine teams will set new club marks if the current output continues for the remainder of the campaign. With the season just under a third over, National League teams are producing homers at a pace that will give them 1,202 for the season while American Leaguers are belting 'em at a rate that will give them 1,174 for the year.

The National League mark of 1,197 homers was set in 1953 while the American League record of 973 was established in 1950.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, who handed rookie Luis Arroyo of the St. Louis Cardinals his first loss, 5-4, on Jackie Robinson's two-run, ninth-inning homer Monday night are leading the parade. They've blasted a total of 79 in 50 games. At that pace, they'll hit 243 for the season and eclipse the 1947 New York Giants' all-time major league record of 221.

Yanks Blast Five Homers

The New York Yankees, meanwhile, are blasting homers at a pace which will give them an American League record of 205 for the year. They hit five Monday enroute to a 7-5 victory over the Detroit Tigers and increased their total to 68 in 51 games. The 1936 Yankees set the American League club mark of 182 round-trippers.

Ed Matheys and George Crowe homered to lead the Milwaukee Braves to a 5-2 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies in Monday night's other game. They gave the Braves 55 homers in 50 games—a pace which will enable them to surpass their club mark of 155 set in 1953. The game was preceded by the completion of Sunday's suspended contest and won by the Phillies, 4-2.

Other National League teams which are threatening their club marks are the second-place Chicago Cubs, the Cincinnati Redlegs and the Cardinals. The Cubs have hit 62 homers in 50 games, the Redlegs 58 in 47 games and the Cardinals 44 in 47 games. Chicago's club mark is 171, Cincinnati's 166 and St. Louis' 140.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox, Washington Senators and Baltimore Orioles also are running ahead of their club record paces. The White Sox have 48 in 47 games, the Senators 29 in 47 games and the Orioles 24 in 51 games. Their club marks are 94 for Chicago, 85 for Washington and 52 for Baltimore.

A MUSICAL MIRACLE
with 8 New Song Hits!

All told, National Leaguers have hammered out 416 homers in 31.9 per cent of the season while American leaguers have hit 358.

Robinson's homer ruined a fine effort by Arroyo, who was seeking to become the first left-hander to to the distance and win over the Dodgers at Ebbets Field this season. Arroyo had yielded only four hits and carried a 4-3 lead into the ninth but he walked Gil Hodges to start the frame. Robinson then tried unsuccessfully to sacrifice twice before hitting his fifth homer of the year into the center-field stands. Peevess Reese blasted an earlier homer for Brooklyn. Arroyo had won six straight games and boasted a 1.55 ERA.

Ed Robinson hit two homers and Billy Hunter, Gil McDougald and Mickey Mantle one each as the Yankees stopped Billy Hoef's shut-out-inning string at 19 and handed the young southpaw his third defeat. Rookie Johnny Kucks, aided by Jim Konstanty in the ninth, won his fifth game.

The victory increased the Dodgers' first-place lead to eight games and the Yankees' first-place margin to 4 1/2 lengths.

Bob Buhl won his second game to equal his entire 1954 production for the Braves with the aid of the two-run homers by Mathews and Crowe. Buhl yielded only four hits and struck out six batters.

Cadillac

Has Its Own Vocabulary!

Over the years there has come into being what amounts virtually to a special Cadillac vocabulary.

Certain words and phrases have so long and so often been used in association with Cadillac that they almost automatically call the car to mind.

When the talk is of motor cars, who can hear the word "prestige" without thinking of Cadillac?

It is likewise true of "distinction"... of "luxury"... of "pride of ownership"... of "satisfaction"... of "comfort"... of "long life and dependability"... of "beauty"... of "impressiveness"... of "value"—and of dozens of other words used to denote superiority.

In a sense, these are Cadillac words—and they actually sound strange when employed in any other connection. Even when used in the promotion of another automobile, they still suggest the "car of cars".

Naturally, words like these can become inseparable only from a product which deserves them. In the case of Cadillac, it has taken half a century of the strictest adherence to the highest automotive standards to win this public approval.

Eternal vigilance is the price of this reputation.

Most people, of course, realize that these wonderful words apply to Cadillac. But too many have not yet personally found out why.

If you are among these—come in and see us today. We will give you the keys to a new 1955 Cadillac—and you'll know in a single hour why Cadillac has its own vocabulary.

You'll know, from personal experience, that when you speak of "prestige" and "distinction" and "luxury" and "pride of possession" and "value"—you are speaking of the Standard of the World.

We have the keys—and the car—and a real welcome waiting for you.

Father, Mother, Baby Boy Found Dead in Home

CADOTT, Wis. (U.P.)—Authorities hoped today that a hospitalized 5-year-old boy could solve the mystery surrounding the death of his father, mother, and baby brother.

The boy, Michael Warner, was recovering in a nearby Chippewa Falls hospital after being found unconscious in his home along with the three bodies.

Sheriff's officers called Michael an "exceptionally bright" boy, but said he was shy and vague about what had happened in his parents' cabin home here.

The bodies of Albert Warner, 52, his wife Margaret, 32, and their 5-month-old son, Sydney, were found by a cousin Friday.

An autopsy failed to disclose the cause of death, although marks on Mrs. Warner's body led authorities to believe for a while that she had been beaten. Her body, clad only in panties and a bra, was jammed between a mattress and a bed rail with a magazine rack on top of her.

Her husband's body was on a cot and the dead baby was in a crib. Michael and a 2-year-old sister, Charis, were unconscious on the cabin floor.

There was no odor of gas to explain the cause of death and a kerosene lamp still was burning. Authorities believed the parents and son had died before Friday and said there were indications that someone had tended the kerosene lamp after the deaths.

Webb Discusses Dental Phone Calls In Rotary Address

Dr. L. I. Webb was the speaker at the weekly Rotary club meeting yesterday noon. His topic was "Use of the Telephone by the Dental Assistant." Dr. Webb was introduced by club president John Foster.

Much work in the preparation of the talk was evident, Dr. Webb having mailed out some 106 questionnaires to fellow dentists throughout the state. On the more than 75 returns, he received 578 reported telephone conversations.

Dr. Webb related to his listeners the nature of these calls, many asking charges, others relative to appointments, some regarding the extent of the doctor's services, etc. The speaker then told the proper procedure for a dental assistant in handling the various type calls.

Dr. Webb has given this talk before several dental meetings in the state and area.

Atty. Lester Lightfoot was a guest at the meeting. Next Monday, club secretary Louie Beltz will report on the Golden Jubilee Convention held recently in Chicago.

Three Overjoyed Jet Pilots, Freed By Reds, Complete Journey Home

OMAHA, Neb. (U.P.)—Three American fliers today completed the last lap of a long journey home from Chinese Communist prison camps.

The overjoyed jet pilots were greeted at Offutt Air Force Base here by a cheering crowd, then dispersed to their home towns and separate civic celebrations.

Capt. Harold Fischer Jr., 1st Lt. Lyle W. Cameron, and 1st Lt. Roland W. Parks had left Honolulu Monday night with their families on the last leg of their trip. They spent five days in Honolulu with their families, who were flown to Hawaii at Air Force expense.

The fourth flier freed by the Reds on Memorial Day, Lt. Col. Edwin Heller, Wynnewood, Pa., chose to stay in Hawaii about two weeks more for treatment of a leg injured when he bailed out over North Korea.

The Air Force Constellation bringing the three fliers to their midwestern homes landed at Offutt at 9:45 a. m. CST. Praise Hammarckjold, Parks and his family were first off the plane and were swept off to a celebration in downtown Omaha. Cameron and his family were flown in the same Constellation on to Lincoln, Neb., for a similar fete.

Fischer and his parents boarded an Air Force C47 for Fort Dodge, Iowa. The captain met his 6-year-old son in Fort Dodge, then joined a motorcade to his home near Swea City, a town of 900 persons 75 miles north.

The fliers, emerging from the Constellation into a bright Nebraska sun, could only say, "wonderful," "terrific," when asked how it felt to be back in the Middle West.

All were lavish in their praise of the United Nations and Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold for his work in their release. Parks said, "I think the U. N. and Mr. Hammarskjold will succeed in getting the other prisoners released, and I think it will be soon."

Fischer's Plans Indefinite
"As for ourselves," Parks said, "our treatment was good." The Air Force, he added, "has been wonderful since our release."

Plan Four-Day Big Four Conference

BERNE, Switzerland (U.P.)—The Swiss government revealed today that the long-planned conference of the heads of the governments of the United States, Russia, Britain and France will be a four-day affair.

Switzerland officially announced that it has agreed to be host June 18 through 21 at Geneva to the top-level effort to ease world tension. The abbreviated conference was a concession to the desires of President Eisenhower, who said he wished to spend only two or three days in the "summit conference" which is to set the stage for more detailed efforts at settlement of East-West issues by the foreign ministers and their expert advisers.

Career Diplomat, Fired in 1951, Seeks Reinstatement Following Court Decision

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—John Stewart Service, career diplomat who was fired from the State Department in 1951 in one of the most controversial loyalty cases of the Truman administration, today sought reinstatement in the U. S. Foreign Service on the basis of a new Supreme Court ruling.

His attorneys said they would argue, in a formal hearing before Federal District Judge Edward M. Curran today, that Service should be cleared of any taint of disloyalty and restored to his old job under the doctrine which the Supreme Court laid down Monday in its ruling on the loyalty case of Dr. John R. Peters.

The court held, 7-2, that the old Loyalty Review Board overstepped its authority when it reopened Peters' case on its own initiative after he had been cleared by two agency boards. Peters, now a professor of medicine at Yale University, was fired in 1953 as a consultant to the Public Health Service.

Sidesteps Constitutional Question
In clearing Dr. Peters, the high tribunal sidestepped a major constitutional question which he had raised—whether federal employees facing loyalty-security charges have the right to face and question their secret accusers.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, speaking for the majority, said the court did not reach this constitutional question because the case could be decided on narrower grounds. Justice William O. Douglas and Hugo L. Black said the court should have seized the chance to declare the "faceless informer" system unconstitutional.

Service's attorneys, Gerard D. Reilly and C. Edward Rhett, said the procedure which led to his ouster was the same as that which the court ruled improper in the Peters case.

Service, who had been a prime target of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's charges of Communism in the State Department, was cleared on six different occasions by the State Department's own loyalty board. Then, in late 1951, the Loyalty Review Board in the Civil Service Commission decided on its own initiative to hold hearings in the case. It found a "reasonable doubt" of Service's loyalty because of his involvement in the 1945 "Amerasia" stolen documents case. Bowing to the board's ruling, Secretary of State Dean Acheson fired Service on Dec. 13, 1951.

Service, who had been one of the department's top Far Eastern experts, denounced the action as an "injustice." He said a federal grand jury had cleared him of the charge that he had passed secret government papers to the editor of the now-defunct left wing magazine Amerasia.

Service has been fighting ever since to get his name cleared and to win reinstatement in the Foreign Service. He appealed to former President Truman—in vain—to overrule the Loyalty Review Board. Then he started a court fight.
